Round 1 of the 2012 S.A Engen Supa Kart Championships
Celso Scribante Raceway, Victoria Drive, Port Elizabeth
10th March 2012

The Engen Supa Karts national season kicks off in the Eastern Cape on Saturday, 10 March. The first round takes place at the Algoa Kart Club on the Schoenmakerskop road in Port Elizabeth.

The national event, one of four that take place each year, will pit three classes of competitors against one another in the Mini, Junior and Super Rok classes. A Cadette class for the youngest of the competitors will also be run on the day, but not as a national class. Despite its non-national status, the Cadette class proves to be wildly popular and often fields a matching – or higher – number of competitors.

Traditionally it is the top names in national karting that prove to be the most successful at the national events, the Rok Cup World Finals in 2011 did, however, appear to buck this trend and things could play out differently in Port Elizabeth.

Ryan Frost (Birel) proved himself a strong competitor on track at the international event, claiming a third place in the runner-up event in Italy. Keagan Masters (Tonykart) was leading the international final when he was taken out. Local racer Simon Moss (Tonykart) finished sixth in the Rok World Cup final and, like the other racers mentioned here, will be in the hunt for their first points of the season – and a chance to take the fight back to the international stage later this year.

The Mini Rok competitors will have amongst their numbers Clinton Bezuidenhout (Zanardi), Liam Pienaar (Zanardi) and Nicholas Thompson (Zanardi) who have already proved themselves very quick this year. Stuart White (Zanardi) won the first regional event in Johannesburg just a week ago and Kaylim Cordier (Zanardi) was rather quick at the first regional held in PE recently.

Jarrod Odendaal (Tonykart), Jason Smith (Tonykart), Cameron Kelly (Birel) and Kean Barnard (Tecno) will also be in the fight for points against local Clinton Bezuidenhout (Zanardi) and Jeandre Marais (Birel). The Mini Rok class might be in only its second year as a national class but the category has boomed and has now even expanded to competition in Zimbabwe.

Junior Rok competition is renowned for the intensity of the competitors. Here Bradley Liebenberg (Birel) is a strong contender and Sheldon van der Linde looks almost unstoppable. Julian van der Watt (Zanardi) and 2011 Mini Rok champion Kohen Bam (Zanardi) are going to be very stiff competition while Ben Habig (Tonykart) and Jonathan Wing (Tonykart) will be bringing a bit of their KwaZulu-Natal competition to the local circuit.

Super Rok competition is also expected to be fierce with Michael Taylor (Zanardi), Ryan Frost (Birel) going up against the likes of 2011 Junior Rok champion Luke Herring (Zanardi) and 2011 Super Rok champion Matthew Swanepoel (CRG). Chassen Bright (Protec Zanardi) and Simon Moss (Tonykart) are local competitors who will be amongst the frontrunners, flying the flag high for the Port Elizabeth racers.

The Engen Supa Karts championship season has grown well under the guidance of ex-Touring Car racer Terry Moss and has become a highlight on the karting calendar. The Port Elizabeth event will see the competitors fight it out in a three-race per class race day that will not be short on racing thrills and spills.

The race day starts at 08:30 with warm-up sessions followed by qualifying sessions from 09:30. The racing gets underway at 11:00 and will continue until the final race of the day at 15:30. Prize giving will take place after the last race.

Fireworks at kart track

Drivers are coming from all major areas

THE Engen Super Karting National ROK Championships kicks off the season this weekend with the first round of National Championships at the Algoa Kart and Motor Cycle Club (AKMC) on Friday and Saturday.

Individual and team drivers will be arriving tomorrow to start practicing on Friday for the race day which is promoted by Terry Moss Racing, on Saturday.

With more than 80 drivers participating in the four classes, this is going to be a major event for karters in South Africa.

Drivers will be coming from areas such as Cape Town, Durban and Gauteng and will mingle with some of the top drivers in the Eastern Cape.

In the Super Rok class, Matthew Swanepoel will be out to repeat his success of last year when he was crowned Super Rok champion.

However, AKMC's Simon Moss (Engen Extreme) and Chassen Bright from Protec Crane Hire will be doing their best to unseat him, as will Luke Herring, last year's SA Junior Rok champion.

Michael Taylor is another very fast up-and-coming driver, and with Ayrton Good from East London who will also be in the mix, it can be guaranteed that there will be no quarter asked, or given from any of the drivers. So expect fireworks.

The Junior Rok class promises to be just as competitive with Koben Bass, last year's SA Mini Rok champion, moving through to this class. Ashley Bezuidenhout from Port Elizabeth, in a Zanardi, will be looking to provide a wake up call to all the visiting drivers.

Sheldon van der Linde is highly fancied to finish in the top three, driving a very fast Birel. However, with these young men anything can happen under race conditions and it normally takes extreme levels of skill and hard driving.

Driving in the Mini Rok class will be 20 young men eager to prove their championship chances.

Stuart White from Bloemfontein won the last regional event in Johannesburg in his Zanardi, however, Liam Plenaar and Nicholas Thompson from Johannesburg and also driving Zanardis are going to push him all the way.

Kaylan Cordier from Uitenhage's Neptune Tyres has also proved to be very quick and should have a hometown advantage with Kean Barnard from Port Elizabeth also pushing for the top spot.

The Cadetts class field is made up of the youngest of the young and not much is known about the individual drivers, however, two Port Elizabeth drivers, Joshua Coetzee and Kenan Barnard, in the February regionals showed that they will be very hard to beat.

Friday is a full-on practice day and Saturday sees qualifying starting at 8.30am with full-on racing afterwards and continuing on into the afternoon.

LOCAL THREAT: Chassen Bright, from Protec Crane Hire, will be one of the local drivers in action at the National Championships at the Algoa Kart & Motor Cycle Club

SUPER-QUICK MOVERS

KART STARS: National karting competitors Mitchell Licen, 17, of Durban, and Naomi Schiff, 17, of Johannesburg, will be battling it out in the Super Rok class of the first round of the Engen Supa Kart championship at the Algoa Kart Club today. The national event is one of four this season and will see three classes – mini, junior and Super Rok – taking to the track off Victoria Drive, Walmer. Although it does not have national status, the cadet class for the youngest racers is also sure to draw spectators

MOTORSPORT · SOUTH AFRICA

Dear All,

We extend Xtreme wishes of welcome to all competitors, many of whom have travelled long distances to take part in this first round of the ENGEN SUPA KART SERIES, may your efforts be well rewarded and congratulations on the strong entries in the ROK CLASSES, well done!!

It is apparent that ROK Karting in South Africa is alive and well, with license numbers increasing while in other prominent parts of the globe, a drop off of up to 25% is being experienced. We therefore salute the ENGEN SUPA KART SERIES, which has undoubtedly become the most successful and sought after series of all time in SA KARTING, boasting Super Sport coverage for all the events.

It is always a pleasure presenting the ENGEN SUPA KARTS SERIES at different venues around the country, displaying true national talent and producing worthy National champions. Being associated with a series of such stature, enhancing competitors from all racial groups and genders, makes us proud to be an active part of the South African Karting environment.

We extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the series associate sponsors , Southern Sun hotels, for their contribution and continued support for the series over the past few years. To the Algoa Kart Club, track promoter and technical staff, we salute you for your efforts in providing a platform for competitive racing, further enhancing the future of the sport in South Africa.

Last but not least, to the competitors and in most cases, dedicated parents, we truly wish each and every one of you the very best for the season, and hope this event at the Celco Scribante circuit, will be succesfull enjoyable and remembered for years to come.

On behalf of ENGEN PETROLEUM and as promoter of ENGEN SUPA KARTS, may you all be winners of tomorrow, remember, losing on the day, does not mean that you are not a winner, it is merely the first step of having an opportunity to win.

In closing, we will endeavour to lift our game in further establishing the ROK FAMILY, producing National and WORLD CHAMPIONS of tomorrow.

Have a great weekend and enjoy the friendly city.

Regards
Terry Moss

Zanardi’s strong line-up for PE kart opener

The Blue Label Zanardi Kart team heads to the opening round of the Engen Supa Kart national championships in Port Elizabeth on 10th March with an exciting full strength line-up of drivers.

Last year the team, using distinctive Zanardi chassis, walked off with the Mini Rok and Junior Rok class titles. “I was happy to win two titles in our first proper season, although it does make it difficult for us to beat this year,” remarked team principal Etienne Roos.

The line-up of drivers in Mini Rok is a interesting mix between established stars and rising stars.

Liam Pienaar will be one of the favourites for the Mini Rok class honours but Stuart White is right there with him on pace. In fact, there’s very little between them and it would be foolish to place bets here.

The other drivers in the class are promising newcomers Delon Thompson and Josh Diaz. Both have shown a natural ability and found a good pace despite having less than a full season of racing under their belts. Driver coaching from former champions Bjorn Roos and Arnold Neveling has helped their rapid rise up the ranks.

Kohen Bam dominated proceedings in the Mini-Rok class last year and has moved up to the Junior Rok class for 2012. There’s no reason why he won’t be making his presence felt in the top six of the Junior Rok field right from the start. Younger brother Henry learnt fast last year and don’t be surprised to see him on his brother’s rear bumper from the outset.

Trent Varejes has shown flashes of brilliance as he has delivered a number of solid results in the junior ranks despite a weight disadvantage. His cautious entry into Junior Rok has been rewarded with a string of consistent results as his confidence has grown with each outing.

Julian Van der Wat arrived in karting with a flash of brilliance and is poised to go far with a team able to offer full support. Kwa-Zulu Natal Jonathan Wing is one of the most determined youngsters around and has proved to be a steady point scorer. Although regarded as an Idube specialist, he is itching to establish himself as a top three runner.

Sandton schoolgirl Naomi Schiff and Port Elizabeth’s Chassen Bright lead the Super Rok team into battle as they are the more experienced of the quartet at this level. Schiff took a superb victory when she beat Leeroy Poulter in a battle of wits in Cape Town last year and starts the season as one of the favourites.

Bright was in contention for the title up until the final round at Vereeniging where a couple of mechanical issues blunted his performance.

Fifteen year old Michael Taylor, aka Mikey T, has just moved up from Junior Rok and raced Formula Vee and Formula Volkswagen in what was an extremely busy year. A good showing in Supa Rok at a recent regional race confirmed he’ll be a threat.

The fourth driver is softly spoken Capetonian Luke Herring who comes into the class as the reigning Junior Rok champion. He has the pace and has superb racecraft so expect him to be in the pack fighting for supremacy.

RKT is proud to be associated with Blue Label Telecoms, Permatex, Playboy Energy Drinks and whose support is greatly valued. “It is a privilege to be associated with these dynamic companies and we appreciate their commitment to our young karters,” added former national kart champion and team principal Etienne Roos.

Welcome to Algoa Kart & Motorcycle Club (AKMC)

AKMC welcomes you to Port Elizabeth for the first round of Engen Supa Karts series in 2012.
We are honoured and proud to be offered the opportunity to host this National karting event this year again, which being the first Round of the championship, will 'set the stage' for the rest of the season.
An event of this nature can only be hosted successfully with the support and assistance of a number of stakeholders; our sincere appreciation is offered to:
Series promoter (Terry Moss) and his associated sponsors, for allowing AKMC the opportunity to host this event
Motorsport SA (MSA) and its officials, for their support
Local MSA officials for managing the event on the track, so to speak
Members of AKMC who make the things happen behind the scenes to allow for a successful event
Other sponsors who assisted with donating of goods/services for the event.
And the many others who also assisted with organising the event, behind the scenes
Then lastly but not in the least, to you the competitor – without you there will not be an event or series of this nature.

We wish all competitors the best of luck, and as usual, expect some exciting and exhilarating kart racing. May all have a successful karting event in Port Elizabeth.

Yours in karting,

Kobie Coertze

ROUND 1 OF THE ENGEN SUPA KARTS SERIES
CELSO SCRIBANTE , PORT ELIZABETH

WELCOME TO NELSON MANDELA BAY !

Nelson Mandela Bay, named after former South African president, freedom fighter, and Nobel Peace Prize winner, Nelson Rolihlahla Mandela, incorporates the City of Port Elizabeth and the towns of Despatch and Uitenhage. We have been known for years as the Friendly City, welcoming visitors from across the globe with open arms and inviting smiles to enjoy our beautiful area.

It is with the same warm-heartedness that we wish to welcome you to our City and invite you to enjoy all it has to offer.

40 km of sundrenched golden beaches adorn the coastline of the Bay with the warm waters of the Indian Ocean kissing the shores. The Big 7 (comprising of the elephant, Cape buffalo, leopard, black rhino, lions, the great white shark and seasonal southern right whale in the marine section) can be viewed at the Addo Elephant National Park on the doorstep of Nelson Mandela Bay. The area offers a unique diversity with a fusion of natural beauty and a rich legacy that carries the history of Khoisan, British, Dutch, German and Xhosa people adding to the richness of its culture. Nelson Mandela Bay offers the freedom to explore, the freedom to experience, and the freedom to express.

We sincerely hope and are confident that Round 1 of the Engen Supa Karts Series will be a huge success. Please join us again in future and make our home your home where you can enjoy adventure, explore the wealth of the Bay or simply relax in the place that offers the luxury and facilities of a City in the environment of a small town.

Spectacular Super Karts wow crowds

John Finlayson

THE Engen Super Karts National ROK Championships at the Celso Scribante Short Circuit at the weekend provided a brilliant day's racing.

Qualifying was a great indicator of where the likely overall winners could be expected to come from in the event promoted by Terry Moss Racing.

However, in karting anything can happen and although the drivers that took pole in all the classes came through to take the top podium positions, it was in the second to fifth places where racing was at its most spectacular and where the final two podium places were decided that provided amazing driving skills.

The qualifying times in the Super Rok class showed how close things were going to be when the differential time between first and sixth on the grid was only 0.13 of a second.

Port Elizabeth's Simon Moss of Engen Extreme in a Tony Kart took pole with Michale Taylor (Zinardi), Mitchell Licen (Tony Kart), Ricky Hill (Tony) and Ryan Frost (Birel) in hot pursuit.

Moss took race one comfortably and left Hill and Chad van Beuren to fight it out with the rest of the field to finally take second and third with Frost in fourth.

Race two saw Hill outgun Moss, who dropped to fourth at the start but worked his way through to second place.

Race three once again saw Moss dominate from the drop of the flag with Taylor and Licen taking second and third. The overall result gave Moss first place with Taylor second and very consistent Frost in the third.

The Junior Rok Class promised to be just as competitive with Julian van der Watt (Zinardi) after qualifying a mere 0.38 of a second ahead of Keagan Masters (Tony Kart), who had qualified fourth.

Van der Watt dominated this class and only dropped one point when in race two he finished second behind Masters.

Once again it was in the lower-order placings that the real exciting stuff was and here Sheldon van der Linde, Benjamin Habig, Masters and Bradley Liebenberg provided all the excitement.

Overall results took Van der Watt to the top podium position with Masters second overall and Van der Linde (in a Birel) third.

With 20 drivers in the Mini Rok, the category promised much of the same with individual racers spread out over all three races.

Liam Pienaar (Zinardi), however, was in a class of his own and never looked like being overtaken by anyone on the day.

Nevertheless racing down the order was amazing with these up and coming drivers showing excellent driving skills.

Stuart White, Clinton Bezuidenthout, Delon Thompson (all driving Zinardis) and Michael Cook (Tony Kart) were left to fight it out for the final two podium positions on the day with Bezuidenhout finally taking second place overall and White third.

The Cadette Class field showed that there are many budding champions in the making and with ages ranging from just four years old and up to six years old, the spectators were left gasping at the skills of these little mites.

Gregory Cook came first, ahead of Joshua Coertze and Daniele Patrizi.
